

South Africa, via Queensland, came to NSW

GES Exhibitors Strut Their Stuff!

The four judges had great difficulty in determining the 'winners' when judging all of the 118 exhibits in the Grand Pavilion. Standards were so high that there were many exhibits who came within a whisker of winning – so congratulations to everyone. One of the constant remarks from visitors was that the exhibits were of such a consistently high professional standard. High praise from critical observers! Next year we will have a People's Choice Award for the stands, so that you can have your say!

Best in Show:

Traden Tubes. It just goes to show that even tubestock can create a wow factor and the efforts that the 'Traden Tubes' went to paid off. It was a fantastic effort.

Best Green Life:

Ramm Botanicals. Diffs of Kangaroo Paws, an old barble and an environmental message all created a great display.

Runner Up Green Life:

Bywong Nursery. Superb stock displayed with that very evocative backdrop gave us all a uniquely Australian message.

Best Non-Green Life:

Debco P/L. These guys proved how you can dress up potting media to make it look positively sexy!

Runner Up Non-Green Life:

Organic Crop Protectants. Strong environmental messages backed up by quality products and information.

Two new Aloes in the Fusion Showcase display

Cameron's Nursery with an innovative and appealing way to display vegetables

Joy from Gondwana wished she had a larger stand!

Winner: Best Non Green Life Award

Watch this space – read your emails check out the NGINA website and read industry magazines! GES 2010 will be announced in all of these formats.